

How We Work Policy

Effective 30 September 2026

This policy describes how Amaris Mathematics Academy delivers its online learning and live classes, and what students can expect when working with us.

Getting started

Create your own student profile and verify your email before buying. Choose a course that fits your curriculum and level, or select an available live-class slot and tell us the topic you want to cover. Keep your account details current so we can send your booking and learning information.

Online courses

After payment is verified, purchased course lessons are available through your private dashboard. Courses use structured videos, worked examples and practice activities. You can return to your lessons and track progress. Your course access and learning materials are personal to your account.

Live classes

Available one-hour tutor slots show the subject, level, tutor, time and price before checkout. A class is confirmed only after payment verification. We then email the class details and provide the Zoom join link to the confirmed student. We aim to send a reminder around 30 minutes before the start. Times are shown in South Africa time.

Preparation and attendance

Please bring your topic, questions and any relevant work to the class, join on time and use a reliable internet connection. If you cannot attend, contact us as early as possible with your booking reference. We review requests to move a class against tutor availability and the circumstances. We cannot promise a particular mark or examination result.

Changes and service issues

If a tutor or platform issue prevents a booked class from taking place, contact us so we can investigate and arrange a suitable new time or an appropriate refund. If a paid course or lesson is inaccessible, send us the course name, account email and payment reference. We will check the verified purchase and help restore access.

Student information and support

We use account, progress, payment and booking information to provide the service and respond to support requests. Student invoices are stored separately from academy administration files and downloads require an authenticated account. See our Privacy Policy and Student Terms for more detail.
